You can't go wrong when you mix children with paint.

That's what teachers did at two Sheppey primary schools to celebrate the Hindu festival of Holi, also known as the Festival of Colour.

Youngsters at West Minster Primary School in St George's Avenue, Sheerness, and its sister site at Rose Street Primary School brightened up the timetable on February 11.

At West Minster the whole school was treated to a dance workshop by Kalpesh Zalavadiya of K'z Dance Entertainment.

The pupils took part in Bollywood-style choreography in groups and then joined together on the playground at each school to showcase their new dance skills. The day ended in a spectacular finale as youngsters threw a rainbow of coloured powder paints in the Holi tradition.

Ashlie Simpson, the school's PE co-ordinator, said: "We had so much fun. The children loved covering friends and teachers in bright colours."
